As presently written, Section 73 (Chapter VII) implies that the field of atomic energy is identical with nuclear physics. This is, of course, not the case; nuclear physics is only one of several scientific and engineering fields which play an important role in an atomic energy program. It is therefore suggested that the outline for the atomic energy survey should be reworded so as not to limit itself to nuclear physics. This can apparently be accomplished most readily by substituting the phrase "the field of atomic energy" where "nuclear physics" occurs in the present version of the section.

With respect to para 7(f) of the Ad Hoc Committee report, there is complete agreement with the first three sentences. It is believed unrealistic, however, to attempt to establish even a target date for completion of the studies on the JCS Priority List until a production schedule has been worked out which will take account of the capabilities of the participating departments and agencies. Accordingly it is recommended that the last two sentences in para 7(f), beginning "The Committee believes....," be deleted and the following be substituted therefor:

"The Committee recommends that the first task of the NIS Committee, when constituted, be the formulation of a production schedule which will take account of the production capabilities of the participating agencies and will permit the establishment of the earliest practicable target date for the completion of the studies on the JCS Priority List."
